OVERVIEW OF TRINITY COLLEGE

Founded in 1872 as the first college of the University of Melbourne, Trinity College is a unique tertiary institution that provides a diverse range of rigorous academic programs for some 1,500 talented students from across Australia and around the world. These programs include:

- the residential College for undergraduate and postgraduate students of the University of Melbourne, both resident and non-resident
- Trinity College Foundation Studies (TCFS), a one-year course which prepares able overseas students for undergraduate entry to the University of Melbourne and other leading Australian universities
- Trinity College Theological School (TCTS), which offers courses for training and forming Anglican clergy and others, on campus, online, and in parishes
- Young Leaders Summer Schools for Australian and overseas secondary school students
- various short courses.

Trinity College actively contributes to the life of the wider University and its main campus is located adjacent to the University grounds.

An Anglican institution, Trinity welcomes people of all faiths and none. The College celebrates, and is enriched by, the diversity of backgrounds of its staff and students.

Trinity student numbers in all parts of the College in 2009 were:

Although Trinity College is primarily a community of scholars, its physical environment is an essential and distinctive part of its life. Not only do we need spaces to study, eat and sleep, we need buildings and grounds that reflect the character of our community and enhance the value of our programs.

Each year when the University Open Day takes place and a fresh group of school students walks into the grounds of Trinity for the first time, I am reminded by the reactions of young people who are new to the College of how remarkable our historic campus is. The wide open space of the Bulpaddock, with varied buildings surrounding it, from the looming red mass of the Chapel to the ivied tower and the cloisters of Behan and Clarke, is its most distinctive and defining feature. Viewed for the first time they can be delightful, even awe-inspiring.

This past year has been an important one for Trinity’s efforts to maintain what is best in our heritage and to improve it for the future. We have continued a rolling program of renovations of resident student rooms and amenities. We began the renovation of the Old Warden’s Lodge for the Theological School, and developed a strategy for improving the teaching facilities for Foundation Studies, including better provision of audio-visual equipment through classrooms.

The most remarkable project of 2009 was, however, the construction of large water tanks under the Bulpaddock, and the consequent renovation of the ‘Bul’ itself, now covered with a lush carpet of drought-resistant grass. Students were deprived of its open space for some months but now enjoy a ‘Bul’ more beautiful and usable than ever before.

The provision of 800,000 litres of water storage enables us to preserve and improve not only the Bulpaddock but the gardens in general, in a way that the drought has made very difficult otherwise. In 2010 there will be further improvements to lawn areas and gardens enabled by this new resource.

The Bulpdock project is also a statement to our students and other members and supporters of a new commitment to sustainability. Trinity has expressed this as an intention ‘to educate leaders for a sustainable future, and to lead by example’. We believe that our educational mission includes giving students opportunities to grapple with important contemporary issues such as sustainability, but that it would be meaningless to do so without acting as an institution according to the values we seek to elicit.

The character, and not merely the fact, of spaces and places really does matter to the process of education. Historic buildings signal a link with a valued past; new ones a willingness to engage the future. New projects at Trinity, designed with sustainability in mind, express our desire both to respect and preserve our tradition, and to ensure that the College and its members are responding to present and future challenges.

In 2008, the Board and Senior Management Team formulated a three-year Strategic Plan to help the College attain its stated vision. Considerable progress in implementing this plan is evident throughout the relevant sections of this Report.

PROCESS IMPROVEMENT

In addition to guiding the core operations of the College, the Strategic Plan specifies the need to evaluate, re-engineer and improve two key College-wide processes each year.

In 2009, these processes were:

1. Strengthen relationships with alumni and friends

   Director of Advancement Dr Alan Watkinson convened a working party – comprising alumni representatives, staff from each of the College’s educational programs, and senior Advancement staff from the University of Melbourne – to explore what alumni want from the College; what level of communication and what information they want; and how Trinity can better engage with alumni living overseas.

   To obtain quantitative answers, the group commissioned an alumni survey. Questions were drafted jointly by Advancement and Communications staff, and further refined by feedback from the working party and the recent, invaluable experience of the University’s own alumni survey.

   Trinity’s survey was initially conducted online for those alumni with current email addresses – around 7,000 in total. A printed version was subsequently posted to those who had not responded by the due date, and also most other alumni, almost 10,000 in all. More than 1,500 responses were received and a full analysis and report of these will be completed early in 2010. While initial indications are that the College, its communications, and its events are held in relatively high regard by alumni, the information gathered will direct further development of the College’s alumni relations and communications strategies.

2. Determine student needs and preferences

   Knowing how to position Trinity in the marketplace flows from understanding the needs and hopes of aspiring students. Although the College has annually conducted a paper-based exit survey in Foundation Studies and the residential College – providing important student feedback and a glimpse of students’ viewpoints about their Trinity experience – these questions have not specifically centred on student needs and preferences.

   The project sought to redesign this process, initially for the residential College, and then to use it as a model for both Foundation Studies and the Theological School.

   The Dean and the Chief of Staff collaborated to create a new annual online survey that asked students specific questions about their overall experience, their experience of what Trinity provides in terms of facilities, services and culture, and more nuanced questions concerning individual student desires, needs and preferences. Almost 40% of resident students responded to the survey, conducted in late October.

   In addition, a series of four student focus groups provided qualitative data about the College’s key marketing messages and how they should be presented to attract outstanding students. Each focus group had at least five participants and included a range of students with varied interests, backgrounds and areas of study. Separate groups were run for each of the student leadership body (TCAC), freshers, second years, and third year students. All sessions involved a series of semi-structured interview questions and visual stimuli.

   The data gathered showed that although there are challenges and clear areas for improvement, the residential College is a vibrant, healthy and engaging community with very satisfied students. Participants also provided helpful views on the re-design of recruitment material, as well as a benchmark against which annual progress can be measured.

   In 2010, this methodology will be used to construct a meaningful College survey system for students in all of Trinity’s academic programs.

A VIBRANT, HEALTHY AND ENGAGING COMMUNITY WITH VERY SATISFIED STUDENTS
GOVERNANCE

Trinity College is an autonomous institution governed by a 12-member Board and a 40-member representative Council.

COUNCIL

REVISING THE CONSTITUTION

Continuing the review of the College Constitution initiated in May 2008, a Joint Working Party, led by the Warden, commissioned Ms Rowena Armstrong, AO, QC to redraft the Constitution, incorporating the amendments identified during the October 2008 Council meeting.

The four areas of the Constitution given particular attention were: the roles and functions of the Council and Board; the Fellows of the College; the composition of the Council; and other features of the Constitution requiring amendment to reflect changes in the structure and operation of the College.

The proposed changes were circulated to Council members one month before the May 2009 meeting to allow detailed consideration of them prior to their discussion at that meeting.

In this discussion, the only proposed amendment to command significant debate was the recommendation that the Dean and Senior Student should no longer be ex-officio members of the Board. Council resolved to commend the minutes of the plenary discussion to the Joint Working Group, with a view to amendments being brought to the next meeting.

The Joint Working Group continued to deliberate, and brought proposed amendments to the October 2009 meeting. Each amendment was reviewed and debated before it was put to a Council vote. The issue of Board membership remained unchanged, but all other amendments were enthusiastically adopted.

A significant change in the Constitution concerning Fellows has created the opportunity for the College to appoint Academic and Teaching Fellows, as well as establishing the category of Senior Fellows, open to Fellows who have served the College for more than ten years.

Dr Brenda Holt
Chief of Staff

BOARD

Trinity is fortunate to have an active and energetic Board that continues to focus on how the College’s strategic goal – to provide a world-class education to its students – can be defined in operational terms, and what needs to be done to ensure it is achieved.

As a result, the Board made a conscious effort, in line with best practice governance principles, to focus on strategic matters related to the future positioning and wellbeing of the College. It also tracked current performance with more than 40 Key Performance Indicators that covered all important aspects of the College’s performance. Every second meeting concentrated on one or two major topics, to allow in-depth discussion and debate.

The Board held 11 meetings in 2009, addressing key areas that included approving a range of infrastructure projects – construction of a new data centre, refurbishment of the Cowan building amenities, renovation of the Swanston Street lecture theatre, improvements to Foundation Studies teaching facilities, further landscaping works defined in the Grounds Master Plan, and a new library management system and printer replacement program – as well as changes to the College Constitution for Council consideration, the College’s involvement with the University of Melbourne’s new BA(Extended) undergraduate degree program, and the formation of two new committees of the Board, namely the Buildings and Grounds Committee and the Education Strategy Committee.

Members of the Senior Management Team of the College were frequent guests at Board meetings, discussing their budgets, operational performance, short term and longer term goals, and areas where the Board could provide assistance and guidance.

The Board held a one-and-a-half-day retreat in May, focussing primarily on the College’s historical and projected performance, the possible impact of the Melbourne Model – including a presentation and discussion with the Vice-Chancellor of the University of Melbourne, Professor Glyn Davis – reviews of the plans and challenges of the respective educational divisions, projected program and Master Plan projects, and College governance.

The Board was pleased to welcome Mr Jim Craig and to reappoint the Chair, Mr Bill Cowan, and members Ms Jodi Fullarton-Healey, Ms Kathleen Bailey-Lord, Bishop Andrew Curnow and Professor David Studdert. In August, Mr Eamon Byrne was followed as Senior Student by Mr Hamish Edridge.
On 14 May the Council of Trinity College elected four new Fellows to join this select group of international community, academic, business and professional leaders. Formally installed at a service in the Chapel on 13 September, they are:

Mr David Brownbill, AM, FRACS (TC 1959), who completed his MBBS in 1962 – the year in which he was also Rugby Captain at Trinity. While Senior Neurosurgeon at the Royal Melbourne Hospital, 1975–1995, he and Sir John Holland founded the Stroke Research Foundation – later to become the National Stroke Foundation – in 1983. David was its Executive Director, 1991–93, and Vice-President and Director until 1996. A volunteer at Trinity for over 20 years, he has been a tutor, Member of Council and the Board, Chairman of the Foundation, 1987–1995, and since 2007, Chairman of the Board of Governors. David received the Advance Australia Award for Medicine in 1991.

Mrs Louise Gourlay, OAM, née Holmes is Chair of Trustees at the William Buckland Foundation. She has been Vice-President of the Board, President of Auxiliaries, and is currently Patron of the Royal Children’s Hospital. In 2005, Louise and her late husband, John Gourlay (TC 1954), established the Gourlay Visiting Professorship of Ethics in Business at Trinity, and in February 2008, Louise officially opened the College’s newest residential building, named Gourlay in the family’s honour. She is the inaugural President of the Warden’s Circle, and in 2008, she established the Louise Gourlay Prize for Social Change in the residential College.

Dr Michael ‘Taffy’ Jones, AM, PSM, (TC 1957) was Senior Student at Trinity in 1960 and 1962. Graduating in 1963, he worked in rural general practice, before moving into medical administration, becoming Director of Medical Services at the Alfred Hospital Healthcare Group, 1995–1999, and President of the Royal Australasian College of Medical Administrators. In retirement, he is a consultant to the World Health Organisation and received the 2005 AMA Victoria Gold Medal for his services to medicine. At Trinity, he has been a Resident Fellow, Acting Dean, medical tutor and GP for resident students, Member of Council and President of the Union of the Fleur-de-Lys.

Dr Denis White was Senior Lecturer in the Faculty of Economics and Politics at Monash University for over 20 years, and also Warden of Deakin Hall, 1973–77. He served as Director of the Private Office of the Prime Minister, The Right Hon Malcolm Fraser, 1982–83. As Executive Director of the Foundation Studies Program at Trinity College, 1991–98, Dr White attracted highly qualified and dedicated staff who developed an outstanding educational program and – under his energetic leadership – built it from modest beginnings into a unique educational enterprise. Dr White was a member of the College Council, 1995–97.

A Fellowship is the highest honour that Trinity College can bestow. Fellows are elected by the College Council and are limited to 30 at any one time.
The residential College is a friendly, supportive, and stimulating environment in which around 280 undergraduate and postgraduate University of Melbourne students live, study, and grow intellectually and personally.

Trinity’s resident students enjoy an enhanced university experience with strong academic support through small group tutorials, individual mentoring, extensive pastoral care, and a wide range of extra-curricular activities, including the largest number of student-run clubs and societies of any Melbourne college. Student life is further enriched by contact with visiting scholars of international repute, while the convenience of living on campus should not be underestimated. Trinity also welcomes non-resident University of Melbourne undergraduates into its academic and cultural programs.

OVERVIEW
The residential College enjoyed a successful and harmonious year, a highlight being the installation of the new Dean of the College, Mr Campbell Bairstow, on 21 May.

The leadership and energy of the Senior Students, Eamon Byrne (2008–09) and Hamish Edridge (2009–10), and of the principal student leadership body, the Trinity College Associated Clubs (TCAC), were sincerely appreciated. Indeed, life was so much the richer for the contribution of the Clubs and Societies, innumerable volunteers, editorial groups, spirit leaders and many others. This is illustrated fulsomey in the Senior Student’s report that follows.

ENROLMENTS
The residential College was fully enrolled throughout the year. The population grew to 287 – a small increase from 2008 as the result of acquiring a house at 61 Royal Parade that was converted to student accommodation. In the short-term, this and the adjacent property will be developed as a senior student or graduate student precinct to complement the changes in the University student body predicted by the Melbourne Model. Happily, Trinity continued to attract students from around the world and all parts of Australia, drawn in approximately equal numbers from the Melbourne metropolitan area, country Victoria, interstate and overseas.

ACADEMIC LIFE
The students achieved fine results throughout the year, obtaining an average grade above 70% in both semesters. The 54 resident and four theology students who attained an H1 average in Semester I were recognised at an Awards Dinner on 29 July at which the immediate past Provost of the University and Trinity alumnus Professor Peter McPhee (TC 1966) presented certificates of achievement. For the second successive year, Sebastian Strugnell (2nd year Science) earned the Trinity College Medal for Outstanding Academic Achievement, and a number of students received University academic prizes and places on the Dean’s List for being amongst the top 100 students in their faculty.

One of the highlights of the year was the commencement of the BA(Extended) degree – developed in partnership with the University of Melbourne and with support from other colleges – and the achievements of the five Trinity students in the first year of the program. The degree, taught over four years, is offered to Indigenous students who may not have achieved a regular ENTER score, and includes bridging subjects designed and taught by Trinity College Foundation Studies teachers.
The College is continuing to adapt to the new curriculum of the Melbourne Model. This was reflected in the move towards a greater number of individual consultations and extra-curricular tutorials rather than formal tutorials. Of about 75 tutorials and consultations held each week during 2009, approximately 10 were consultations, and 15 were extra-curricular tutorials. These extra-curricular offerings included a Creative Writing forum led by Trinity’s Writer-in-Residence, Latin, Human Rights, Piano, Guitar, and Pilates. The tutorial team numbered 61 resident and non-resident tutors in Semester 2. The tutorial program also sponsored the two a cappella groups (The Candy Stripes and Trinity Tiger Tones) and an early music group led by student tutor Sam Allchurch.

The 2009 Wednesday evening seminar series was particularly outstanding, highlights being the talks given by Miegunyah Fellow Professor Tom E Mann on ‘Obama’s first 100 days’, by Miegunyah Fellow Professor Larry Gostin on global health policy and ethics, and by Professor Ross Garnaut on climate change.

The 2009 Gourlay Visiting Professor of Ethics in Business, Ed Freeman, inspired and challenged students, staff and alumni during his weeks in residence. He also chaired the second Louise Gourlay Social Change Project competition, won by students who addressed the issue of better deploying leftover food from the College kitchen.

The Wigram Allen Essay competition replaced one of the seminar sessions, with three contestants presenting thought-provoking essays. The winning piece by Mathew Chalk (3rd year Arts) was a lyrical meditation on language, thought, poetry and the metaphor of religion.

The tutors continued to make an invaluable contribution to the lives of the students. They set an important example through their teaching and scholarship, as highlighted by Dr Hsein Kew’s award of an Australian Research Council grant to further his work in econometrics. The College farewells and thanks Dr Marissa Daniels, Ms Bonnie Smart, Dr Angus Turner and Ms Katie Cahill, all of whom have been popular and successful in their residential roles.

Dr Deane Blackler was welcomed to the new role of Associate Dean in January and quickly took charge of campus life, launching important initiatives in student health and wellbeing. These programs will result in a better-educated and more successful community in areas such as exercise, nutrition, stress management, time management, and spirituality. The annual student survey indicated clearly that resident students felt both secure and well cared for, and the role played by many staff and students in contributing to this is acknowledged with gratitude. The appointments of the Revd Dr Andreas Loewe as College Chaplain and the Revd Dr Dorothy Lee as Associate Chaplain in the residential College were very important to the welfare of the community and to building an active Chapel life.

In the course of the year it was decided that the role of Residential Adviser, traditionally held by senior resident students, would not continue in 2010. The position was introduced at a time when the College was undergoing a major cultural shift towards becoming a more balanced and inclusive community, and the College recognises and thanks all students who have held the role in the past six years for their significant contribution to that change. A new role of Student Coordinator – linked to individual floors and more operational matters – will commence in 2010.

Scholarships and support totalling around $850,000 was distributed in 2009, this assistance being appreciated most sincerely by students and their families, particularly those for whom residence would not otherwise be possible. The Trinity community continues to be sustained in many and splendid ways by alumni and friends who recognise the College’s commitment to making a difference through collegiate education.

‘The Dean’s Team’

The outstanding contribution and unstinting efforts of the residential College management team – Dr Sally Dalton-Brown, Dr Deane Blackler, Dr Peter Campbell, the Revd Dr Andreas Loewe, the Revd Dr Dorothy Lee and Ms Kristie Nevill – are acknowledged and applauded with gratitude.
THE MUSICAL 'GREASE' DREW IMPRESSIVE CROWDS TO THE UNION THEATRE
RESIDENT STUDENT ACTIVITIES

CULTURAL
In Semester I, a small, dedicated cast of residents staged an outstanding production of Harold Pinter’s The Birthday Party, whilst the musical Grease in Semester II drew impressive crowds to the Union Theatre. A most successful inaugural cultural exchange with College House, Christchurch, also took place at Trinity in May.

Intercollegiate [ICC] competitions were, as always, keenly contested. Trinity hosted the annual ICC Arts and Writing Soirée and performed brilliantly with several winners including, Kara Kim (1st year Environments) and Joshua Crowther (1st year Arts). Trinity also hosted the ICC Chess Tournament, won by Prakash Rajah (2nd Year Commerce) and the ICC Debating Tournament. Strong performances from the Theatre Sports team saw Trinity place third overall in the Intercollegiate Arts Shield for 2009.

SPORTING
Trinity residents enjoyed a busy year and represented the College strongly in a range of sports. Highlights from the year included Trinity defeating Ormond 19–10 in the annual rugby match to remain unbeaten in the last six years, and narrow defeats to Queen’s College for three Trinity crews, who all placed second at the rowing regatta. The women’s hockey team was runner-up for 2009 and represented the College strongly in individual and team performances against strong competition.

There were also many excellent individual and team performances in tennis, swimming, cricket, soccer, athletics, table tennis, netball and football. Trinity placed 4th in the Cowan Cup for Intercollegiate Men’s sport and 5th in the Holmes Shield for Intercollegiate Women’s sport. After reopening in early October, the renovated Bulpadock allowed a range of casual rugby, soccer, volleyball and backyard cricket games to be enjoyed by all.

COMMUNITY SERVICE
This was a great year for community service as resident students successfully pursued a range of causes.

The Louise Gourlay Prize for Social Change was won by two students who challenged residents to consider their eating habits and minimise wastage of food that could otherwise be put to good use. The Northern Territory Trip once again gave students the chance to visit the Minyerri community, and support for the Carlton Youth Football Club remained strong.

The number of fundraising initiatives led by students increased in 2009 and included a soccer ‘goal-a-thon’ in memory of Tom Lewis-Mathias (TC 2004) to raise money for the Melanoma Research Foundation, and donations from the Trinity College Ball, Valedictory Day and ‘Shums’ post-rowing celebrations made to Canteen and the Peter MacCallum Cancer Centre. The Outreach Committee also led a number of service and fundraising endeavours, including a homework club, youth tutoring, Daffodil Day, the 40-hour famine and Red Cross blood donations.

At the annual TCAC Dinner, a new award was created to recognise the Outstanding Contribution to Community Service of two resident students, Dharne Korn (3rd year Science/Commerce) and Amelia Watson (3rd year Arts), who had dedicated themselves to improving the lives of others in the wider community. This was an important step for Trinity as it strives to improve its connection with the surrounding community.

COLLEGIATE LIFE
The 2009 Orientation and Transition program was revamped, with an improved mid-year orientation program heralded as a particular success. The inaugural ICC Lunch in O-Week marked a great step forward in improving intercollegiate relations. Once again, the Trinity International Students Club (TISC) took the lead in welcoming a diverse range of international students, and also hosted two highly successful evenings – the Dhamaka and Harajuku nights.

The 2008–09 TCAC hosted an inaugural Open Lawn event, with many students from the University and around College Crescent joining Trinity residents for an afternoon on the newly restored Bulpadock. The year also saw the return of the great Shums post-rowing tradition, and the retention of the Senior Student’s ex-officio position on the Trinity Board.

During the year, a new electronic voting system was created and used for the Trinity College Clubs and Societies elections. Residents also welcomed a plan to introduce Student Coordinators in 2010, replacing the previous Residential Adviser system.

COLLEGIATE LEADERSHIP
The elections for Senior Student, the TCAC, and the Clubs and Societies committees saw a broad range of students elected, promising great things for 2010. Chris Dellavedova (4th year Engineering) was re-elected as President of the Intercollegiate Sports Committee.

The two Senior Students in 2009, Eamon Byrne (3rd year Arts/Science) and Hamish Edridge (3rd year Science/Commerce/DipModLanguages), attended the 41st Annual Conference of the National Association of Australian University Colleges (NAAUC), held at St Andrew’s College, Sydney University, in July. This was the first time Trinity had been represented at this peak body and was an important step towards raising the national profile of Trinity College, and forging stronger links with the student leaders of the Australian residential college community.

THE COMMENCEMENT OF THE BACHELOR OF ARTS (EXTENDED) AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MELBOURNE WAS UNDOUBTEDLY ANOTHER IMPORTANT MILESTONE IN THE COLLEGE’S HISTORY
INDIGENOUS PROGRAMS

Since 2001, staff and supporters of Trinity College have been working, in close liaison with Indigenous leaders, to:

- increase the opportunities for able Indigenous students to access higher education and develop leadership skills
- raise the level of knowledge of Indigenous culture and affairs across the wider non-Indigenous community.

BA(EXTENDED) COMMENCES

The history of this College is marked by occasional, striking initiatives – the move to coeducation in the residential College and the introduction of Foundation Studies for international students are just two examples. The commencement of the Bachelor of Arts (Extended) degree at the University of Melbourne in 2009 was undoubtedly another important milestone in the College’s history.

Trinity’s contribution to establishing this course – an Arts degree taught over four years rather than three, including eight bridging subjects from Foundation Studies – has been substantial. The College has drawn on its expertise and experience to design and deliver outstanding curriculum in the bridging and preparatory subjects, has raised significant philanthropic support to underwrite the early years of the program, and is one of the colleges offering resident places for students.

Thirteen students from around Australia commenced the degree in March. Five of them were at Trinity: all are progressing to second year in 2010.

Foundation Studies staff members Rosemary Blight, Rebecca Lucas, Jane Neild and Sue Jobst made a remarkable contribution in teaching, and went to extraordinary lengths to make their students feel welcome and achieve success. Dr Brenda Holt played a key role in liaising with the University and colleges, Kay Attali guided colleagues and students through scholarship support, Jeff Richardson supported the recruitment process, and he and Dr Deane Blackler mentored the Trinity residents.

The College recognises and thanks its principal partners in this enterprise, including the Faculty of Arts, the University’s Centre for Indigenous Education (CIE), and the Rio Tinto Aboriginal Fund. The importance of the partnership with Janet Clarke Hall, Newman College, Ormond College, Queen’s College and Whitley College is acknowledged.

The College also acknowledges the generosity of the Flora and Frank Leith Trust, the Jack Brockhoff Foundation, the Bryan and Rosemary Cutter Foundation, and the John T Reid Charitable Trust. Many private donors have also been instrumental in making this program a reality. The College is very grateful, too, for the wisdom and encouragement of his Honour Peter Gebhardt, and his readiness to spend time with our students.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS

Trinity’s engagement in Indigenous education in 2009 also included:

- A resident Indigenous community of 16 students and two tutors
- Two Indigenous students organised and led nearly 100 staff and students in joining The Long Walk to Dreamtime@the’G
- Several students accompanied Peter Gebhardt and the Dean on a visit to the Wulgunggo Ngalu Learning Place in Gippsland
- Jerome Cubillo (1st year Arts) was one of 13 young people selected nationally to participate in a forum to identify areas of concern to Indigenous youth, arranged by Federal Minister for Youth, the Hon. Kate Ellis
- Indigenous writer and actor Tammy Anderson performed her solo play, I don’t wanna play house, and worked with BA(Extended) students
- Fifteen resident students learned first-hand about Indigenous education and health by travelling to Darwin and the Minyerri community in the Northern Territory
- Jerome Cubillo (1st year Arts) was one of 13 young people selected nationally to participate in a forum to identify areas of concern to Indigenous youth, arranged by Federal Minister for Youth, the Hon. Kate Ellis

Considerable intellectual and social activity provided a ready outlet for members and guests of the SCR throughout 2009. As the centre of intellectual life at Trinity, the Senior Common Room hosted the Fireside Chat series – after-dinner seminars that provided an opportunity for robust discussion on a remarkably wide range of topics, led by visiting scholars, pre-eminent academics and practitioners, and other individuals associated with Trinity. This year the Chats were notable for their high level of attendance and quality.

SCR members also enjoyed a number of social highlights over the year. The Wine Steward’s Dinner, organised by Dr Emma Henderson, was a delightful first semester event that highlighted some of the SCR’s excellent wines and allowed for a number of wonderful conversations. The End-of-Year Dinner at University House also served as a pleasant capstone to a busy and enjoyable year for the SCR. At the instigation of the Chaplain, the Revd Dr Andreas Loewe, the SCR hosted guests following Sunday night Chapel, which frequently lead to wide-ranging discussions on a number of topics. Such evenings embodied the spirit and ethos of the SCR, and it is hoped these events will continue in the future.

Of particular note in 2009 was the growing number of opportunities to meet with SCR members from other Colleges. Early in the year the Trinity SCR invited colleagues at other institutions to join us for a brunch, which sparked an interest in continuing the tradition and led to several reciprocal invitations to visit other Colleges. It is likely that such events will be continued and expanded in 2010.

A number of physical improvements to the Senior Common Room are also envisioned for the upcoming year, which should lead to greater enjoyment and more effective use of the room itself by SCR members. Always a work in progress, the SCR is looking forward to building on the successes of this year and continuing to play an active role in life at Trinity.

Thanks go to Dr Carsten Murawski (Treasurer) and Mr Paul Broussard (Secretary) for their excellent service on the Senior Common Room Executive in 2009, and best wishes to incoming president, Head of Academic Programs Dr Sally Dalton-Brown.

Chris Freise
President 2009
The College hosted 54 Visiting Scholars in 2009 – a slight increase on the previous year. They included one Nobel Prize winner, two Miegunyah Fellows and the Gourlay Visiting Professor of Ethics in Business. Most were attending conferences at the University or were from institutions, both in Australia and abroad, with which Trinity has particular connections. Several were making return visits to the College.

The majority of the Visiting Scholars were in the field of history, given that Trinity assisted the History Department at the University of Melbourne by hosting eight of their Famine Conference guests – one of whom is returning in 2010 as a Miegunyah Fellow. Remaining guests were spread across the fields of art, architecture, bioethics, classics, education, engineering, law, literature, medicine, music, politics, and theology.

In addition, a number of prominent economists gathered at Trinity on 1 April for a forum – initiated by Trinity’s Bruce McComish Fund for Economic History – to discuss the current relevance of the Cambridge economist, John Maynard Keynes (1883–1946). Speakers included Trinity’s sixth Warden, Professor Don Markwell, Dr Alex Millmow, Dr Peter Jonson, Dr Bruce Littleboy, Professor Ian McDonald and Nobel laureate Sir James Mirrlees.

A full list of Visiting Scholars for 2009 is included in the Appendix.

Highly qualified staff use a lecture and tutorial style of teaching to develop independent learning skills. This is combined with individual mentoring, a strong network of student welfare and support services, and a range of extra-curricular activities to prepare students for tertiary study.

Widely regarded as a benchmark for Foundation Studies programs in Australia, TCFS courses are academically supervised and quality-assured by the University of Melbourne, which guarantees places to those students – on average, around 80% (or more) of TCFS graduates – who achieve the required scores.

Trinity College Foundation Studies will celebrate its 20th anniversary in 2010.

TCFS STAFF SUCCESSFULLY TAUGHT SUBJECTS IN THE UNIVERSITY’S NEW BACHELOR OF ARTS (EXTENDED) UNDERGRADUATE DEGREE COURSE FOR INDIGENOUS STUDENTS
TRENDS IN 2009

Despite the Global Financial Crisis, the College’s and the program’s reputations, plus some very persistent and creative marketing efforts, helped avoid significant fall-off in enrolments beyond the start of 2009. As the year progressed, intake numbers rose and annual student enrolment targets were achieved later in the year, although revenue targets were not quite so easy to recover. All enrolled students met our high entry standards, both academically and linguistically.

Some qualitative patterns were noted during the year. Students who once came to TCFS with a firm goal to study Medicine or Law, were no longer so evident in the cohort, an ongoing legacy of the Melbourne Model developments. More enrolments now come from China, although the five main sources are still China, Malaysia, Singapore, Hong Kong and Indonesia. Vietnam is rapidly emerging as a significant market and Indonesia is growing consistently, whilst the traditional markets of Malaysia, Hong Kong and Singapore are slowly shrinking. This is a function of the developing secondary education systems in those countries and is a trend being experienced by all foundation studies providers in Australia.

Promoting the Melbourne Model and ensuring a strong pathway connection has meant some excellent collaboration with the University in 2009. Marketing and scholarship initiatives are good examples of shared strategy and programs designed to attract the best international students, while innovative school competitions in Indonesia and Vietnam created further opportunities for raising the profiles of both institutions in those countries.

Redevelopment of the Young Leaders Summer Schools (see over) was also undertaken with a strong view to linking them more intentionally with TCFS and generating a more integrated marketing effort for greater impact in our target markets.

COMPLIANCE ISSUES

The TCFS program operates in the highly regulated domain of international education, where 2009 has seen some significant quality issues revealed in the media. The sector is one of Australia’s leading export industries and national reputation and standards are closely guarded. Problems are swiftly addressed, often with stronger regulation initiatives. TCFS has never had any difficulty meeting these exacting standards, which are revised from time to time. Indeed, the Trinity program is seen in many quarters as one of the quality benchmarks for other operators.

The proposed new National Foundation Studies Standards drafted during 2008 – to which the College had major input in several areas – are finally to be implemented in 2010. The federal government has also advised that a new accreditation audit of the TCFS program will be required early in 2010. Thus, much of 2009 has been spent in ensuring full readiness for these audits and new standards. The quality and student management systems are virtually all compliant, but effort is always being made to improve wherever possible. By the time of the audits, Trinity will be fully prepared.

TCFS IMPROVEMENTS

Following the careful analysis of costs and cost drivers in TCFS delivery carried out over the past two years, it was an easier and more manageable challenge to adjust the 2009 operations to achieve budget surplus despite a shortfall in revenue targets resulting from the slow start to student enrolments in early intakes. Expenditure was adjusted in key ways to ensure a balanced recovery and by about September it was clear that TCFS would deliver the planned surpluses, either in large part or wholly.

The new career structure for TCFS teachers was bedded down and salary levels and career progression remain very competitive with comparable institutions and sectors. This has become particularly evident as a new federal ‘Modern Award’ was foreshadowed for January 2010 promulgation and any necessary fine-tuning to Trinity’s conditions of employment were implemented in readiness. TCFS staff are remunerated and have conditions that are well in excess of the new award levels, ensuring the College can attract and retain the very best teachers and general staff who are extremely competent at building university preparation skills and supporting international students as they ready themselves for university.

ANNUAL STUDENT ENROLMENT TARGETS WERE ACHIEVED LATER IN THE YEAR
BEYOND THE CLASSROOM

The TCFS Student Committee organised the annual ball for students, held this year at the San Remo Ballroom and declared a success by all who attended. Staff members organised many student clubs and activities. Popular activities include cooking, basketball, chess, and painting, but music is probably the most popular of all. Music and singing clubs, with some TCFS teaching staff co-ordination, revealed many would-be pop-stars and rock musicians in the student body! These activities rely heavily on staff goodwill and commitment and there was also a student social committee that functioned very effectively in 2009. With some encouragement, one student group took the task of philanthropy very seriously and raised funds to purchase some chairs for the comfort and use of future generations of TCFS students.

STUDENT WELFARE AND SUPPORT

The Student Welfare team has operated very professionally and smoothly this year, dealing skilfully with some occasional students in crises of physical and mental health, accommodation difficulties, attendance lapses or other problems associated with living away from home for the first time. Compliance requirements as specified in the government’s revised ESOS Act and National Code are very demanding, especially around attendance issues, and the Student Welfare team are constantly working to streamline processes to manage the risks to both the students and the College.

Fortunately, the Welfare team noted no episodes of violence or racist attack against any TCFS students. Although there are only very few Indian students in the TCFS program, there are others from Pakistan, Bangladesh, and Malaysia and Singapore whose appearance might have made them a target. Advice is regularly provided to students on how to best manage their personal safety as they move around the city and the Victoria Police Community Policing unit assists the College with this.

The end of 2009 saw the departure of the inaugural TCFS Chaplain, the Revd Kim Cruickshank, after eight years in the role. Kim has been a much-loved and respected part of the student support team. She will be missed by both staff and students as she moves on to her next career challenge.

Arranging and approving suitable accommodation for TCFS students remained a serious challenge in 2009 as high demand on apartments and hostels surrounding the University made supply very tight. The special needs for adult supervision that apply to the many TCFS students who are under 18 years of age make some of the available accommodation options inappropriate.

Valedictory Ceremonies were organised for all departing intake groups in 2009 with invited distinguished guest speakers from within the University. These occasions are enjoyed by students and their friends and even family members who fly in to see their son or daughter complete the TCFS program. Although students do not have their final results at the time of the Valedictory Ceremony so it is not a formal graduation, the College sees it as appropriate to celebrate the students’ achievement and to make a ‘leave-taking’ occasion for all to enjoy.

DEVELOPING NEW PROGRAMS

TCFS staff successfully taught subjects in the University’s new Bachelor of Arts (Extended) undergraduate degree course for Indigenous students (see page 19), utilising their expert knowledge of curriculum and pedagogical approach for learners preparing for higher education. TCFS staff will now also be involved in more advanced subjects within this program.

Further development work was undertaken on a proposed graduate preparatory program for international students arriving to take masters or doctoral courses at the University. This is also intended to utilise the extensive expertise that the TCFS program has acquired over its 19-year history in meeting emerging educational needs. Several concept papers have been presented to the University and many discussions held with senior staff and in faculties to see how such an initiative might be framed to best serve the University’s needs, whilst also providing adequate return for the College. The task is proving complex but receiving great encouragement from the new Provost of the University of Melbourne. Further work will ensue in 2010 to move this program forward.

Dr Barbara Cargill
Dean of International Programs
‘THE YOUNG LEADERS SUMMER SCHOOL CHANGED MY LIFE. I CANNOT EVEN BEGIN TO EXPLAIN HOW MUCH
THIS EXPERIENCE MEANS TO ME IN BEING ABLE TO LEARN SO MUCH, MAKE SO MANY NEW FRIENDS FROM ALL AROUND THE WORLD AND UNDERSTAND MUCH
MORE ABOUT PEOPLE AND EVEN ... MYSELF’
Two Young Leaders Summer Schools took place in 2009, despite the position of Director of Summer Schools being vacant from February until the appointment of Ms Sue Karzis in late May. With recruiting time thus limited, the mid-year school (29 June–12 July) had a small, but lively, cohort of 12 students. However, the December Summer School (6–19 December) attracted a healthy total of 118 students.

Marketing the program in 2009 was a significant challenge. Both the impact of the Global Financial Crisis and the emergence of violence against Indian students in Melbourne caused a downturn in interest. Participants eventually came from over 10 countries, with the majority from Singapore and Malaysia. Three of the four school groups came from prestigious Singapore schools. Only one group from India attended in December, while other Indian schools that had attended regularly in recent years chose not to come, affected by the negative publicity surrounding students’ wellbeing in Australia.

Thanks to scholarships provided by the government through the Indigenous Youth Leadership Program, together with others given by generous private benefactors, 23 Indigenous and two refugee students were able to participate in the December Summer School.

The format of the December program was revised to offer students a choice of three academic streams: The Science World, which attracted 60 students; The Creative World, selected by 28 participants; and The Persuasive World, chosen by 30 students. An increased focus on aspects of Leadership saw students compete for the inaugural Leadership Cup, as well as the introduction of a Leadership Project, in which students were allocated to groups and asked to develop a plan for tackling some of today’s most pressing global issues. They then presented their projects to a panel of external judges, who awarded points for creativity, presentation and content.

There was also a greater emphasis on Global Citizenship, with various not-for-profit organisations raising students’ awareness of a wide variety of global topics. The new Leadership Cup encompassed the Amazing Race, Karaoke Night, Trivia Night and Mini Olympics – activities that encouraged students to develop and practise vital leadership skills such as negotiation, team-work and public speaking.

The final component of the Leadership program included a training workshop with the National Institute of Circus Arts. The workshop had students juggling, walking the tight-wire, performing on the swinging trapeze, and mastering their skills in acrobalance. Whilst this was a fun outing for the students, the objective was to develop their self-confidence and sense of mastery.

A further important component of the Summer School was the extensive program of extra-curricular activities. A day trip to the Mornington Peninsula was a highlight for the students, while Bollywood dancing, a Cultural Night and a ‘Trinity’s Got Talent’ event added to the fun.

Trinity College aims, through the educational experiences it offers, to transform students’ lives. As one student from the December YLSS wrote in evaluation papers, ‘The Young Leaders Summer School changed my life. I cannot even begin to explain how much this experience means to me in being able to learn so much, make so many new friends from all around the world and understand much more about people and even … myself.’

Dean of International Programs
The Theological School is an internationally recognised centre for theological education and ministry formation in the Anglican tradition. It was founded in 1877 by Bishop James Moorhouse within Trinity College to offer a ‘large and liberal’ educational environment for theological studies, and now offers courses – on campus, online, and around Australia – for ministry training, theological education, and scholarly exploration of the Christian faith.

Theology students at Trinity undertake degree courses of the Melbourne College of Divinity (MCD), which is affiliated with the University of Melbourne. Classes are taught through the United Faculty of Theology (UFT), an ecumenical consortium of over 300 students formed with Jesuit and Uniting Church partner colleges, as well as in Trinity’s own online and ministry formation programs.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS
Enrolments across the School’s various educational programs continued to be strong in 2009. The Ministry Formation Program attracted 54 students, who came from every diocese in the Province of Victoria, as well as one from the Diocese of Brisbane. Eighteen candidates for ordination studied in the School this year, the largest cohort in recent memory.

In Semester II, the Formation Program moved to the Chapel. The Brotherhood of St Laurence and the Australian Board of Missions provided substantial input in this part of the year, stretching the imagination and experience of our students with new understandings of mission and agency-based ministry.

Enrolments in both the undergraduate and graduate streams of the Theology ONLINE program continued to grow at a healthy rate, with 137 participants in the online program in 2009, an increase of 8% over the previous year. The first students fully to complete a Master of Divinity (MDiv) degree online finished their studies this year.

The School’s Certificate in Theology and Ministry (CITM) also performed strongly, with around 380 students in over 40 groups participating this year. The Diocese of Bendigo’s program, which uses CITM to train some of its clergy, has launched its first graduates into active ministry.

NOTABLE EVENTS
In March, the Theological School hosted the Revd Ian Mobsby, Associate Priest and Missioner at St Matthew’s, Westminster, and Associate Missioner of the Archbishop of Canterbury’s Fresh Expressions Team. While here, he delivered the Noel Carter Lecture in Applied Theology on the topic of ‘Being Church in a Global Culture of Consumption and Information Technology’.

The Rt Revd Danilo Boustemante visited the School in March and spoke to students about the challenges facing the church’s mission in his diocese of Mindanao in the south of the Philippines.

The Revd Canon Professor Martyn Percy, Principal of Ripon College, Cuddesdon, delivered this year’s Barry Marshall Memorial Lecture on 13 August. He spoke on ‘What can the Church Learn from Darwin? How Churches Evolve to Fit their Environment’. The audience enjoyed a night marked equally by wit and erudition.

The Revd Dr Roger Ferlo, Professor of Religion and Culture, Associate Dean and Director for the Institute of Christian Formation and Leadership at Virginia Theological Seminary, led the School’s Annual Silent Retreat and also gave the Frank Woods Memorial Lecture on 26 August. He spoke on ‘From Pre-modern to Post-modern and back again: Christianity and Culture at the Crossroads’, a presentation that encompassed contemporary literary theory, theology, art and music.

In a new initiative, faculty of the School travelled to Sydney and conducted a very successful intensive ‘Is Scripture Enough?’ on 4 July at St Paul’s College, University of Sydney, as part of St James King Street’s education program. Numbers had to be capped due to larger-than-expected demand. The School plans to repeat this exercise in 2010.

The Revd Dr Dorothy Lee delivered a paper on ‘Art and the Gospel of John’ at the Studiorum Novi Testamenti Societas Conference in Vienna in August.

God in Early Christian Thought [Leiden: EJ Brill, 2009], a collection of essays in memory of Lloyd Patterson, edited by the Warden, the Dean of the Theological School and Brian Daley SJ (Catherine F Huisking Professor of Theology at the University of Notre Dame in Indiana) was published in November and launched at Trinity and at the Society for Biblical Literature Conference in New Orleans.

The Theological School is an internationally recognised centre for theological education and ministry formation in the Anglican tradition. It was founded in 1877 by Bishop James Moorhouse within Trinity College to offer a ‘large and liberal’ educational environment for theological studies, and now offers courses – on campus, online, and around Australia – for ministry training, theological education, and scholarly exploration of the Christian faith.

FACULTY OF THE SCHOOL TRAVELLED TO SYDNEY AND CONDUCTED A VERY SUCCESSFUL INTENSIVE
The Dean of the School preached at Christ Church St Laurence’s patronal festival in Sydney on 16 August, and spoke at the launch of Ballarat Grammar’s VCE philosophy program on 18 August. He also promoted the Theological School by making visits to eight parishes in the course of 2009. The Revd Drs Dorothy Lee and Ross Fishburn also contributed to lifting the profile of the School through parish visits in 2009.

OFF-CAMPUS TEACHING
In addition to teaching in Trinity’s Ministry Formation Program, Theological School academic staff also lecture in the United Faculty of Theology.

In Semester I, the Revd Dr Timothy Gaden taught Further Readings in New Testament Greek for the UFT, as well as the Reading Unit on Liturgical Reform in late Anglo-Saxon England. He also taught Foundational Christian Thinking across both semesters in the online program.

The Revd Dr Ross Fishburn taught Semester I units in Mission of God People of God, and Semester II units in Ministry and Sacraments, and Anglican Identities.

In Semester I, the Revd Dr Dorothy Lee taught a unit on The Gospel of Matthew and another on The Gospel of John. In Semester II she taught Mark and Synoptics and, with Dr Felicity Harley-McGowan, The Gospels and Christian Art.

Dr David Gormley O’Brien taught the UFT subjects of Theological Issues of the Early Church and Shaping the Early Church: Alexandrian Christianity.

Throughout the year, Timothy Gaden, Ross Fishburn and Dorothy Lee also taught Diploma of Ministry Units in the School’s Ministry Formation program.

THE EXPANSION OF OWL
As the result of a generous donation to the School, building work began in July on a major extension and refurbishment of the Old Warden’s Lodge (OWL), extending the teaching spaces and improving the existing structure in which the School is housed. For some years the School has had more students than it can comfortably accommodate, so the new 100-seat lecture space and dedicated seminar rooms will be put to good use as soon as they are finished in February 2010. Landscaped exterior areas and new common space will also do much to enhance the learning experience for theological students.

STAFFING
Dr David O’Brien, the School’s Online Coordinator, Registrar and McMullin Lecturer, was married to Sara Gormley in a small ceremony in the Chapel on 25 September and has consequently changed his name to David Gormley O’Brien.

The Revd Dr Ross Fishburn, Director of Studies within the School, was awarded his Doctorate of Theology by the MCD in 2009 for a thesis entitled, ‘Retrieving the Paschal Ecclesiology of Michael Ramsey’.

The Dean resigned from the role of College Chaplain at the end of Semester I in anticipation of the Revd Dr Andreas Loewe’s arrival from Cambridge. In addition to her position in the Theological School, the Revd Dr Dorothy Lee was appointed residential College Associate Chaplain (0.2 EFT).

Ms Meg Warner began her tenure as the inaugural Morna Sturrock Doctoral Fellow in the Theological School in June. While furthering her doctoral studies, she contributed to the teaching of Old Testament in the United Faculty of Theology.

The Revd Dr Timothy Gaden
Dean of the Theological School
The Chaplaincy team and Student Chaplaincy Council initiated a number of new programs that reflect the College’s Anglican heritage and the diversity of the Trinity community:

• for the first time in many years, outdoor services were held, offering Chapel worship in a relaxed setting
• ‘Three in One at 1’, a structured, sensitive and scholarly approach to Bible study with lunch and prayers, was held on Fridays during term, for students and staff
• Chapel Dinners after Sunday Choral Evensong enabled members of the Trinity community to share a meal, get to know the preacher and explore ideas raised in the sermon
• a Chaplaincy Quiet Day in October facilitated the shaping of a common vision for Chapel worship and life.

These included the Orientation and Commencement services, Tenebrae (in preparation for Easter), Andreas Loewe’s installation as College Chaplain on 2 August, the installation of four new Fellows on 13 September, a Blessing of Animals on the Bulpadock in celebration of World Animal Day with guest speaker Dr Hugh Wirth, from the RSPCA, on 5 October, the End of Year Service, a Remembrance Day Service under the College Oak, and the packed Carol Services, two in the College Chapel, and one in St Paul’s Cathedral.

One baptism, two confirmations, six weddings, and five funerals or memorial services took place in the Chapel, which was also the venue for 45 concerts, half of which were organised by the College and included the Thursdays@Trinity lunchtime concert series.

The Revd Dr Dorothy Lee was appointed Associate Chaplain to the residential College in January, while continuing as Frank Woods Lecturer in Biblical Studies in the Theological School.

In April, the Very Revd Dr Stuart Blackler, Dean Emeritus of Hobart, was appointed George Mitchell Fellow, a part-time role involving educational mentoring and tutoring as well as participating in the life of the Chapel and the Canterbury Fellowship.

The Revd Dr Andreas Loewe arrived from Cambridge in late July to become College Chaplain, succeeding Tim Gaden, who continued as Dean of the Theological School.

In December the Revd Kim Cruickshank resigned from her position of Foundation Studies Chaplain to accept appointment as Senior Chaplain of Overnewton Anglican Community College.

The Revd Dr Andreas Loewe
College Chaplain
The internationally acclaimed, 24-voice Choir of Trinity College – with its busy schedule of Chapel services, concert performances, recording sessions, and international tours – is the flagship of Trinity’s musical life, but by no means its only aspect. Regular concerts and soirées, artists-in-residence, visiting musicians, the annual College musical, excellent instruments and music practice facilities, various performance groups and talented undergraduate music students – all contribute to a rich musical environment.

Although not touring overseas in 2009, the Choir of Trinity College had a busy year, with many concert appearances in addition to the regular Chapel services during semester.

A Mendelssohn and Handel concert in the College Dining Hall on 16 May was conducted by special guest, Dr Richard Marlow, who said afterwards of the Choir that ‘you would not have heard better in Cambridge’ – high praise from the man who was Director of Music at Trinity College, Cambridge, for 38 years! On 17 and 18 May, the Choir collaborated with the Australian Brandenburg Orchestra to present Vivaldi’s Gloria in two sell-out performances at the new Melbourne Recital Centre. The Choir has again been invited to sing with the ABO in their August 2010 Melbourne subscription concert.

The Choir travelled extensively to country Victoria, singing Saturday evening concerts and Sunday morning services in St Johns’ Church, Colac, on 15 and 16 August, and Christ Church, Castlemaine, on 19 and 20 September, as well as participating in the Elgee Park Winery subscription series on 4 October, where Dame Elisabeth Murdoch was among the audience.

A performance of Haydn’s Nelson Mass and Stuart Greenbaum’s Coventry Cathedral at this year’s Port Fairy Spring Music Festival on 10 October was repeated on 24 October in the Trinity Dining Hall for the second of the Choir’s major concert presentations for the year.

The Choir sang in Hamer Hall during the judges’ deliberations for the Herald Sun Aria competition on 29 October. The Chamber Choir sang at the 90th birthday celebrations of former Governor-General Sir Zelman Cowen on 30 September, and at St John’s Church, Sorrento, on 5 December.

Special Chapel services sung by the Choir in 2009 included the services of Installation for the new Chaplain, the Revd Dr Andreas Loewe on 2 August, and for the four new Fellows of the College on 13 September.

On the recording front, the Choir was part of two ABC releases during the year. The first of these, Life Is Beautiful with ABC Classic FM – to which the Choir contributed Bruckner’s Ave Maria, the only choral track on the CD – was distributed free with The Age newspaper on 25 July. The second, Our Land In Harmony was a double CD released by ABC Classics to aid victims of the Victorian bushfires. On this, the Choir sings Faire is the Heaven as the final track of CD2 – a fittingly beautiful conclusion to the album.

The choral year concluded with a ‘Sunday Live’ broadcast on ABC FM – in collaboration with Karin Schaupp (guitar) – on 6 December, followed by the traditional three Carol Services, held in St Paul’s Cathedral on 12 December and in the College Chapel on 11 and 13 December. As has now become customary, all were filled to capacity.

Thursdays@Trinity, the lunchtime concert series held each week during term in the Chapel, continued in 2010, as did the various soirées at which resident students had the opportunity to perform for their peers and showcase their multitudinous musical talents. The practice of students giving a short musical performance before announcements at dinner in Hall on alternate Thursday nights also encouraged delivery and enjoyment of diverse musical styles.

The exceptional popularity of the men’s a cappella group – which changed its name during the year from No Bul Barbershop to Trinity Tiger Tones following a highly successful tour to Adelaide in April – was complemented by the rise of a flourishing women’s group called The Candy Stripes. Both groups performed in two sell-out concerts given in the University’s Guild Theatre in late April, as well as at various special dinners, reunions and other events during the year.

Next year promises to be particularly exciting for the Choir, with invitations to perform in St Thomas’s Church, Leipzig, and the Cheltenham Festival, as well as for BBC Radio in June and July 2010.

‘YOU WOULD NOT HAVE HEARD BETTER IN CAMBRIDGE’
Dating from the 1880s and enhanced by many generous donations, the Art Collection of Trinity College continues to grow in significance. The student-based E R White Club conducts an annual acquisition program of contemporary Australian works. The Archive Collection holds a treasure trove of records, personal papers and memorabilia of College life.

TRINITY COLLEGE ART COLLECTION

PORTRAITS
The first work to be displayed at Trinity under a new annual loan arrangement with the S R Stoneman Foundation Art Collection at Duneira was a portrait of John Maynard Keynes by Roy De Maistre (1964). Appropriately, this portrait presided over a forum on Keynes held at Trinity on 1 April.

The Potter Museum of Art generously lent Trinity a portrait of Sir Joseph Burke by Noel Counihan (1973), which was unveiled in the Senior Common Room in August. The portrait of Professor A G L Shaw by John Olsen (1962), lent to the College by its subject, underwent minor conservation.

Three new portraits – one acquired and two commissioned – were added to the Collection this year. Arthur Boyd’s 1972 portrait of Professor Manning Clark, a Fellow of Trinity College, was purchased with the help of donations. Archibald Prize-winner Lewis Miller was commissioned to paint a posthumous portrait of another Trinity Fellow, former Premier of Victoria the Hon. Sir Rupert Hamer, AC, KCMG, while Mary Ann Mackenzie from Devon, England, painted the late Chester Wilmot (TC 1931). All three portraits will be unveiled at the inaugural Art Patrons’ Dinner in April 2010.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES
The E R White Club’s 2009 acquisition comprised three etchings by John Wolseley, purchased through Australian Art Galleries. The Last Journey of the Regent Honeyeater, Dunes Climbing a Mountain, and Bush Curlew, Nhill, share an environmental theme. They will be unveiled early in 2010. The students’ Art Studio instigated a Postcard Exhibition in which students portrayed their interpretations of Trinity College in small format.

VISITING ARTISTS
Banduk Marika visited to speak at an Indigenous Cultural Symposium at the University of Melbourne in February, while in April, artist Mary Newsome gave a workshop to Theology students and others.

GIFTS
In addition to the two portraits on loan, gifts to the Art Collection in 2009 were valued at $138,000. The College is most grateful to all the generous donors who continue to expand the Collections.

EXHIBITIONS
An exhibition in the Library entitled ‘Sacred Icons and Other Images: Image versus Idol’ was part of the off-site program for the Parliament of World Religions in November. It attracted special visits by members of St Peter’s Eastern Hill Icon School and the University Fine Arts Network.

After studying the relevant texts, Theology students examined Michael Fell’s etchings based on the Gospel of St Matthew, held in the Trinity Collection.

TRINITY COLLEGE ARCHIVES
Some 191 research requests were received in 2009 – up from 130 in 2008.

The complete archive of the Society of the Sacred Mission (SSM), including papers, rare books and photographs, was among a number of significant gifts received.

To coincide with renaming the Gourlay Room as the Perry Room, a display of Bishop Perry memorabilia was one of 12 archival displays mounted. Alumni reunions for entry years 1969, 1979 and 1989 also featured memorabilia displays.

The original Minute Book of the Union of the Fleur-de-Lys, covering 1885 to 1956, was an exciting find during the year. Two hundred and eighty series have been recorded in the DBTextworks database, and an additional database incorporating images as part of the record was designed to catalogue archival photographs.

All gifts to Art and Archives are listed in the Appendix.

THREE NEW PORTRAITS – ONE ACQUIRED AND TWO COMMISSIONED – WERE ADDED TO THE COLLECTION
The Leeper Library utilises the latest technology and resources while also acting as the guardian of heritage resources valuable to the College and to the Anglican Diocese of Melbourne. The main room is based on the library of Trinity College Dublin and symbolises the best of the traditional library – the time-honored reading room for serious study and research – while simultaneously offering opportunities to engage with the latest technologies and learning styles.

In 2009, the Leeper Library continued as a busy centre of study and research for the College community. It has, in its collections, extensive resources for staff and for resident, theological and Foundation Studies students. It also houses the Mollison Library for the Anglican Diocese of Melbourne, with the Anglican Special Collections containing valuable materials for researchers.

With intense competition for space at various key times during the year, there is a need for additional facilities for student use. New areas would allow for greater flexibility and provide appropriate spaces, currently lacking, for collaborative study.

Two new library committees were formed to serve as forums for comment by user groups. The Library Strategy Committee is composed of staff members from the various areas of the College. Currently, these include: Dr Sally Dalton-Brown (Residential College), Glen Jennings (TCFS), Dr David Gormley O’Brien (Theological School) and Gale Watt (Leeper Librarian). The Library Reference Committee will be composed of students from the various sectors and will be convened in 2010.

STAFFING

Nick Renkin joined the Library staff as technician in January, and Susanne Ballantyne returned as technician-cataloguer in June. Staff were kept busy sourcing requests, cataloguing and processing new purchases, providing reference assistance, and developing the collections to ensure these are kept up-to-date and useful. Throughout the year, all staff participated in conducting orientation sessions for the various user groups.

Since the Director of Information Services, Ken Knott, left in September, the Leeper Librarian now reports directly to the Dean of the College.

RESOURCES

Two new databases were added to the theological resources – New Testament Abstracts with EBSCO, and Oxford Biblical Studies Online. Two new, faster printers and photocopiers and new public terminal computers were rolled out in January.

After intensive and extensive research, a new library management system was selected and purchased in December. Migration of data to the new system – which will offer users cutting edge online access and functionality – will commence in 2010.

GIFTS

The Leeper and Mollison Libraries also received many generous gifts from donors, details of which are listed in the Appendix.

To meet the ever-growing needs of staff and students across the College, the Information Technology department at Trinity College supports 319 computers and 72 network switches across 158 locations. The College has 18 server application instances and supports 25 desktop applications.

SERVICE
Computer users across the College are able to obtain technical support through an automated work ticket system accessed via the College portal. In 2009, the IT department completed 4,350 of these work tickets, raising awareness of this and other areas of its work by reporting current statistics and information in the weekly staff E-newsletter, In the Loop. The department also enhanced its change management processes and expanded its internal documentation [Wiki] system.

INFRASTRUCTURE
The College took a major step forward in 2009 with the construction of a new data centre to house mission-critical data and servers. Completed in December, the new centre is designed to have a 15-year life and improves the protection for primary data and systems against fire, flood and power disruptions. In the case of a power disruption, the systems currently contained in the centre will continue to operate for almost eight hours before needing to be shut down.

Student download quotas for external traffic received were increased from 2.2 gigabytes to 7.9 gigabytes after working with the University of Melbourne to establish reduced charges for network traffic.

High quality shared printers and photocopiers were installed across all College locations as Phase 1 of a complete printing overhaul. The 13 new, shared printers provide colour printing and replace the need for most desktop-based printers. Phases 2 and 3 of the printer overhaul project will be completed in 2010.

All Macintosh computers in the College were migrated to the Mac OS X 10.5 (Leopard) operating system during the year. A telecommunications tender process yielded a new carrier for voice landline and mobile services, while a new VoiceMail server was deployed to improve that service. Wireless networks were also expanded late in 2009.

In addition, the IT team supported the technology behind the new weather station that monitors rainfall and controls garden watering. Similarly, it implemented the technology to support new campus security cameras and the temporary ‘call centre’ required for the Trinity Calling telephone campaign in March.

The team upgraded computer labs in the Lincoln Square North and Swanston Street buildings, primarily for Foundation Studies students. This included conversion of the Lincoln Square North lab into a multi-purpose training facility.

APPLICATIONS
The functionality of TExAS [Trinity’s Excellent Administration System] – the integrated administration system installed in 2008 – was expanded in 2009 to include full implementation for all Foundation Studies intakes (including attendance marking, student results, academic and mentor progress reports), automation of alumni data uploads, and the generation of E-News recipient lists.

To allow preferential voting, IT staff upgraded student election online voting software. Support for podcasting was added to Moodle, the on-line teaching tool, and all staff were migrated to a new domain controller for improved stability.

FOCUS FOR 2010
Priorities for 2010 include additional functionality in TExAS, a College website upgrade including a new Content Management System, improving delivery through a Disaster Recovery Strategy, a range of key audio-visual upgrades and the development of an IT Service Catalogue.

HUMAN RESOURCES

‘Build a unified and transparent culture for human capital development across the College’
– extract from the College’s 2008 Three-Year Strategic Plan.

WORLD-CLASS LEADERS’ PROGRAM
For Trinity College to become a world-class institution, it must have world-class leadership. Accordingly, this program was introduced and run throughout 2009. It included:

• a 360-Degree Feedback experience for all Senior Managers, including a coaching experience
• a monthly leadership series for a chosen group of middle managers, including the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator and coaching, exposure to outstanding leaders, leadership theory, skill-based sessions, and the 360-Degree Feedback experience
• a three-day leadership workshop for all Foundation Studies Subject Leaders, including the Birkman Method and coaching, skill-based sessions and strategy.

SECOND ANNUAL ALL-STAFF SURVEY
In 2008, Human Resources constructed an all-staff online survey in order to determine the key staff issues and measure improvements. While this first survey illustrated a fairly happy staff overall, two significant issues emerged: staff members rated the performance management experience a low 2.3 out of 5, and staff morale was rated 3.7 out of 5.

In 2009, the second such survey demonstrated a significant improvement in staff satisfaction, with ratings for the performance management process rising to 3.2, and staff morale rising to 4.0. What is most pleasing is the fact that there was no significant downward change in satisfaction in any area of the survey.

Although surveys can only ever show a limited picture, they are an important snapshot of how staff members feel about their jobs and about the College as a whole.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND WELLBEING
Trinity committed $60,000 to individual staff requests for professional development, including attendance at conferences, specialised training, off-campus courses and further education.

In addition, the College continued to offer regular professional development for staff, with a range of in-house training sessions covering the new administration system, conflict management and communication, manual handling, Occupational Health and Safety (OH&S) processes and procedures, and grievance adviser training.

The introduction of a wellbeing program for staff included weekly Yoga or Pilates sessions. These will continue in 2010.

OUTSTANDING STAFF AWARDS
All Trinity staff were encouraged to nominate candidates for the 2008 Outstanding Staff Awards in Teaching, Administration and Service. These were judged around three criteria: excellence, innovation and sustained service quality. The recipients were:

Outstanding Contribution to Teaching
Chan Poi Chey, Lecturer in English for Academic Purposes, TCFS

Outstanding Contribution to Service and Administration
Kirsten Fawcett, Marketing and Admissions Assistant, TCFS
Beverley Roberts, Personal Assistant to the Director of Finance and Administration
Hermann Koppenwallner, IT User Services Officer

RECRUITMENT
The following positions changed personnel during the year: College Chaplain; Manager, Financial Accounting; Library Technician; Director of Summer Schools; Associate Director of Advancement, Major Gifts; Advancement Associate, Events and Communications; Advancement Office Administrator; Trinity College Foundation Studies Chaplain; Director of Information Technology; and Director of TCFS Student Welfare (temporary 6-month paternity leave replacement).

THE COLLEGE GENERATED A SURPLUS THAT WAS BETTER THAN BUDGET
FINANCE & ADMINISTRATION

The Finance and Administration department supports the College in its goal to provide a world-class collegiate education. It encompasses the areas of Finance, Accounts, Administration, Buildings and Grounds, Catering and Hospitality, and various College-wide projects.

FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE

In 2009, the College generated a surplus that was better than budget. Whilst this result was consistent with expectations, its achievement was not without its challenges.

The 2008 Global Financial Crisis (GFC) and its flow-on effects had an impact on the numbers and timing of enrolments in Foundation Studies and Young Leaders Summer School programs, as well as on bookings for the Conferences and Events business throughout 2009. More recently, the reports of racial violence and abuse in Melbourne have created concerns in the Foundation Studies and Young Leaders markets. The Residential College was full in 2009 and the enrolments in the Theological School were up on previous years.

In this environment of fluctuating enrolments, careful management of expenditure and continued attention to the fundamentals of the College’s financial performance contributed to the achievement of a strong 2009 result.

The charts [right] show a breakdown of the sources of College income and areas of College expenditure. Fees are clearly the main form of income (71%), followed by donations (15%), while in expenditure, salaries and staff related costs represent 52% of expenditure with ‘Administration’ and ‘Property, Buildings & Grounds’ the next most significant.

The College spent a total of $5.3 million in capital expenditure in 2009 to improve the College’s infrastructure and operations. The major projects included the Theological School redevelopment, the purchase of 61 Royal Parade opposite the main campus and adjacent to another College property at 65 Royal Parade, the installation of the 800,000-litre water tank system and resurfacing of the Bulpaddock, construction of the new IT data centre, and various other buildings and grounds projects (see over).

The market value of the College’s investment funds improved strongly in 2009 as markets started to recover following the global financial crisis. Actual fund distributions, however, were down on budget, this being a feature of the current market conditions. These investment funds help to support the College through the funding of scholarships, studentships, contributing to staff teaching and lectureships, building projects and other College activities. While distributions were down, the College was still able to deliver on all its planned programs and scholarships.

The College Board, through the Finance and Investment Committees, together with Management, are reviewing College policies related to investments and fund draw-downs to ensure that the activities of the College are supported with the objective of maintaining the real value of endowed funds in the very long term. Donations in 2009 to the Trinity College Foundation were again strong with funds donated for scholarships, buildings and grounds projects, and teaching featuring solidly.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS
Buildings and Grounds staff service a wide range of stakeholders and the team was greatly encouraged by a number of compliments received from various areas of the College during the year.

Following the adoption in 2008 of the Grounds Master Plan, 2009 saw the implementation or commencement of several of the projects identified as high priorities within that plan. These included:

- Installation of 800,000 litre underground water storage tanks under the northern end of the Bulpadock, together with a new irrigation system, followed by re-surfacing of the Bulpadock with drought-tolerant turf (Santa Ana couch). Work commenced on 2 March, the new turf was laid on 20 May, and full access was restored in early October.

- Installation of a weather station device on the roof of the Cowan building. This manages the efficient and sustainable watering of the Bulpadock and other grounds by ensuring that the turf is watered only as and when required by prevailing soil and weather conditions.

- Restoration of the Summerhouse (the old tennis pavilion) and associated stone fencing, together with landscaping and re-turfing of the Summerhouse lawn area. Implementation of the Building Master Plan (2007) also progressed in 2009, with numerous building projects undertaken. These included:

  - Redevelopment and expansion of the Theological School. This encompassed the addition of a new wing, refurbishment of the existing building, and landscaping of the interior courtyard and surrounding grounds. The work began in July and is due for completion in February 2010.

- Commencement of the refurbishment of the Cowan bathrooms, laundries, toilets, showers, tutor rooms and corridors. This work began in December and is due for completion in February 2010.

- The purchase of 61 Royal Parade, providing additional residential College student accommodation.

- Refurbishment of 65 Royal Parade, in preparation for use as resident student accommodation in 2010.

- Redevelopment of 20 of the smallest student rooms (known as ‘dog-boxes’) in Jeopardy and Behan was completed prior to students returning in 2009.

- Construction of a new IT data centre in the Evan Burge building to safeguard essential data and servers.

- Redevelopment of Swanston Street Lecture Theatre 1 to provide improved TCFS teaching facilities.

- Replacement of existing fire panels to improve safety management.

- Replacement of various old sewer pipes to reduce ongoing blockages and repair costs.

- Installation of security cameras to assist in providing safety and security to staff, students, guests and visitors.

- Re-structuring of the waste collection system to improve re-cycling and reduce the amount of waste going to landfill.

Further major projects planned for 2010 include the redevelopment of the southern and Behan car park areas, refurbishment of the Dining Hall, and upgrading amenities and student rooms in the Jeopardy building.

CATERING AND HOSPITALITY
The College provides catering for around 300 resident students and staff, for Foundation Studies students (who can purchase lunch in the Dining Hall) and for other College staff. A large number of functions and events are held throughout the year to recognise and thank our many alumni and friends, and for the Conference guests and Young Leaders Summer School participants. It is a task of huge proportions, with over 160,000 meals served to residential College students alone. In 2009, the team from Alliance Catering, led by Catering Manager Pascal Berthelemy and Head Chef Colin Scarfe, has continued to provide this fundamental aspect of community life.

Virtually all dietary requirements – ranging from Halal to vegan – are accommodated. Following the trend of recent years, surveys of resident students and Conference guests, reflected increasingly positive responses to the standard and range of food available, as did feedback from the staff and student food group, which meets fortnightly during term and has proved a useful forum for modifying the menu to suit student tastes. The catering team has also been flexible and responsive in trying to accommodate all reasonable requests.

Gary Norman
Director of Finance and Administration
More than 40% of the Conference activity in 2009 was new business, much of it sourced through word of mouth recommendations.

This was pleasing confirmation of the overall very positive feedback received from clients in regard to such items as customer service, and the quality and presentation of food. It was especially encouraging in a year when the lingering fallout from the GFC and a strong Australian dollar weakened the global international conference market.

Organisations that held conferences or events at Trinity in 2009 represented a wide range of sectors – education and training, sport, music and the arts, Indigenous groups, religious groups and various not-for-profits. A full list is included in the Appendix.

In addition to the financial returns obtained from a successful Conference & Events business, there are additional benefits that advance the College’s strategic goals. During the year, some very fruitful partnerships were forged and existing relationships reinforced, to the benefit of departments College wide.

The success of the Conferences & Events business relied heavily on the support of Berkeley Challenge (cleaning team), Alliance Catering, Trinity’s Buildings and Grounds team and the support staff in Stewart House and Main Reception.

Mark Gordon
Conference, Catering and Hospitality Manager

One of the most beautiful and historic campuses in Australia, Trinity College is an ideal location for conferences, large or small. Set in spacious gardens, the College offers extensive facilities that include 280 bedrooms, a 150-seat lecture theatre, numerous function and meeting rooms, and an historic Dining Hall seating 280 guests. Full in-house catering is provided.
SUSTAINABILITY

Sustainability is ‘meeting the needs of the present generation without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs.’

– Our Common Future, report from the United Nations World Commission on Environment and Development (WCED), 1987

SETTING A SUSTAINABLE STRATEGY

In May 2009, the Board endorsed a proposal to develop a high-level sustainability strategy for the College and to form a steering committee to oversee this. The process has been led by Gary Norman, who added the role of ‘Director, planitgreen – Trinity College Sustainability Projects’, to his existing responsibilities as Director of Finance and Administration.

The Sustainability Steering Committee (SSC) comprises a wide representation of staff, students and management from all parts of the College and is being assisted pro bono by consulting firm McKinsey & Company, whose representatives on this project are all Trinity alumni. The Committee’s governance structure includes partnering with the Green Team – a staff group that has been working assiduously in this area for the last nine years – and the students’ Environmental Committee.

The SSC has defined a vision and three themes on which the strategy is to be based:

VISION

Trinity College will educate leaders for a sustainable future, and lead by example.

THEMES

1. Taking responsibility for a sustainable College.
2. Educating and inspiring our community to lead.
3. Partnering with others.

A good deal of work during the year is reflected in a number of initiatives covered elsewhere in this Report, the most obvious being the installation of 800,000 litres of water storage under the Bulpadock, which was re-surfaced with drought-tolerant turf sustained by a climate-controlled watering system. A Bokashi organic waste recycling system was also installed in the kitchen.

The SSC consulted widely with the College community to gather more ideas to help set targets and timelines for reducing greenhouse gas emissions and water usage, increasing recycling and reducing waste, developing sustainable transport and purchasing policies, and establishing measurement and reporting systems. This work will culminate in the launch of Trinity’s planitgreen Sustainability Master Plan in the first semester of 2010.

INTRODUCING ‘PLANITGREEN’

The Committee adopted the name planitgreen and its associated logo to highlight sustainable initiatives and practices across the College. The name reflects Trinity’s commitment to ensuring that sustainability and the environment are considered as an integral part of everything the College does and plans to do.

Developed in the Communications Office, the symbol first appeared on the safety fencing surrounding the Bulpadock. It has also been registered as a trade-mark belonging to Trinity College.

ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT

The College engaged the Carbon Reduction Institute (CRI) to undertake two environmental assessments – a carbon footprint / greenhouse gas (ghg) assessment, and an electricity audit. The results showed that, College wide, Trinity currently generates 4,489 tonnes of CO₂ emissions each year – equivalent to around 374 average Victorian households of 2.8 people.

Electricity usage was clearly the major source of ghg emissions in the College (55%) and the energy audit further identified various issues and consumption details by campus and building.

Based on these results a number of initiatives have been identified for implementation in 2010 and beyond. These include lighting upgrades, installation of motion sensors and timers, educating people to switch off power instead of using standby mode, draught-proofing, and an energy-efficiency purchasing policy for new appliances.

Trinity’s internal and external communications encompass both print and electronic publications. Continuing the pattern of recent years, three editions of the College’s flagship print publication, Trinity Today magazine, were issued – in May, September and December – with circulation increasing by about 500 copies each year as the alumni body grows. It is also published online in pdf format.

Other major print publications during the year included the 2009 Annual Reports of the College and its Foundation, the 2010 prospectus for Trinity College Foundation Studies (TCFS), the resident students’ handbook, and numerous promotional brochures, posters, flyers, and event invitations. In-house graphic designer, Dee Jenkins, completed 440 design job requests during the year – a 16% increase over 2008 – as well as progressing the development of the Trinity Style Guide and creating document templates for internal use.

In support of the College’s commitment to sustainability, these materials are printed by ‘green’ printers using a carbon-neutral process, vegetable-based inks and world’s best practice ISO14001:2004 Environment Management Systems. The magazine is wrapped for mailing in 100% biodegradable plastic that decomposes into natural materials in 12-24 months when placed in landfill.

During the year, the distribution of the monthly (except in January) electronic newsletter, Trinity E-News, was expanded from around 8,000 to 12,500 recipients, with the distribution list now generated directly from the College’s TExAS administration system.

A survey of alumni, conducted in October, revealed that over 80% of respondents like both Trinity Today and Trinity E-News and find them useful sources of information about the College. The information from this survey will help fine-tune Trinity’s future communications.

Having retained the same structure and visual design templates for four years, the Trinity website now requires major revision. This work is planned for 2010, together with the selection of a new, more flexible Content Management System (CMS). The additional need to expand and coordinate the College’s social media presence, and to generate engaging video content to promote the College’s programs and benefits, led to the creation of the new position of E-Communications Officer.

Under the headline ‘Inspiring Minds’, a creative advertising campaign – designed to position the College as a hub of high quality, intellectual activity – appeared from May to November in The Sunday Age at negotiated reduced rates.

The name planitgreen and accompanying logo were developed for use on the fence surrounding the Bulpaddock excavations in March. They were subsequently trademarked and adopted for use in identifying all the College’s sustainability initiatives.

The Trinity logo was also modified in order to present the College in a clean, uncluttered, contemporary style that conveys the image of a world-class academic institution while reproducing more clearly in the wide range of applications now required. This will be introduced from the start of 2010.

Several professional photo shoots were conducted during the year for use in marketing materials, while a photographic record of most events was captured through in-house photography. While steady rather than prolific, media coverage of Trinity during 2009 remained favourable. The filming of an episode of the TV police drama, Rush, at Trinity during the mid-year break provided an interesting diversion for staff, and an on-camera role for one student.

The assistance of part-time Communications Assistant Kimberley Lear throughout the year was critical in helping to achieve the production of all communications on time and on budget in 2009.

A SURVEY OF ALUMNI REVEALED THAT OVER 80% OF RESPONDENTS LIKE BOTH ‘TRINITY TODAY’ AND ‘TRINITY E-NEWS’
Warden's Circle Garden Party
Despite the tragedies of the bushfires and floods in the early part of the year, and of the prevailing economic gloom of the Global Financial Crisis, the work of the Advancement Office continued in a positive and optimistic manner. Many long-term supporters of the College recognised the greater need for student support at such a time and increased the levels of their commitment. The College is enormously grateful to all who supported its goals and objectives, at whatever level, and helped Trinity to continue to transform the lives of the more than 1,000 students who attended the College during 2009.

CAMPAIGN FOR TRINITY
The Campaign for Trinity has exceeded its goal and, while never publicly launched, will be signed off in early 2010. More than $27 million has been raised since the Campaign started in 2002. This extraordinary result reflects the deep passion and commitment of all who have contributed over the years: to the capital works, the student support program, the teaching support program, Indigenous initiatives, and to the cultural life of the College. Much gratitude is due to the leadership shown by the former Campaign Cabinet and by the Executive Committee of the Foundation, chaired by Dr Graeme Blackman, OAM, for the success of the Campaign.

PHILANTHROPIC GIVING
Trinity raised more than $4 million in gifts during 2009 – the second-best result ever in the history of the College. The Annual Giving Campaign, after an understandable slow start to the year, gained momentum and raised $438,407. This represented, on average, a larger level of donation by a slightly smaller number of donors than in 2008. The Trinity Calling program, which ran in March under the guidance of Rux Burton Associates, was staffed entirely by Trinity students, who engaged with more than 950 alumni during three weeks of calling and raised $138,000 in gifts and pledges.

KEY PROJECTS
During 2009, funds raised by the Advancement Office made a significant contribution to the restoration of the Bulpadock. Water tanks to store 800,000 litres of run-off water were constructed in situ under the ‘Bul’, which was then graded and re-turfed with drought-resistant Santa Ana couch grass. A beautifully green Bul in December was testament to the success of the project.

The Summer House was completely refurbished and the adjacent lawn (from the Summer House to the University Entrance) redeveloped, with reticulation from the underground tanks and re-turfing. The surrounding garden beds were redesigned and replanted with a palette of plants and shrubs in keeping with the College’s sustainability initiatives.

Work on the expansion of the Theological School commenced in July and by the end of December was nearing completion. The construction of a new wing and the redevelopment of the Old Warden’s Lodge will provide new and enhanced facilities for Theology, as well as other parts of the College.

The Gourlay Visiting Professorship of Ethics in Business brought Professor Ed Freeman to the College in late September. Professor Freeman is the Elis and Signe Olsson Professor of Business Administration at the Darden School of Business, University of Virginia, Academic Director of the Business Roundtable Institute for Corporate Ethics, and Co-Director of Darden’s Olsson Centre for Applied Ethics. He is also Professor of Religious Studies. During his four-week visit, he delivered a public lecture to a packed audience in the city on 30 September and gave a number of boardroom presentations, as well as teaching at Melbourne Business School and interacting with Trinity students.

More than $30,000 was raised during the year to assist in the purchase of a very fine Arthur Boyd portrait of Professor Manning Clark.

The BA(Extended) undergraduate degree course for Indigenous students, which has been made possible through the generosity of many donors to Trinity, commenced in the Faculty of Arts, with bridging subjects being taught by TCFS teachers.
SCHOLARSHIPS
The Dr Andrew Fraser Medical Scholarship was established following receipt of a most generous $1 million bequest from Dr Andrew Fraser (TC 1934). Two scholarships will be awarded each year: one in the name of Dr Andrew Fraser, and one in the name of his wife, Dr Diana Fraser.

The John T Reid Charitable Trust established a Scholarship to support a student in the BA(Extended) program for four years.

The Helen Macpherson Smith Trust provided $140,000 to be paid over three years to enhance the existing Helen Macpherson Smith Choral Scholarship and the Helen Macpherson Smith Trust Scholarship.

The Flora and Frank Leith Charitable Trust committed a further $80,000 to support Indigenous initiatives at the College.

A bequest from Marjorie Le Souef of $100,000 was added to the existing Trinity General Medical Scholarship, which has been renamed the Le Souef Medical Scholarship.

Bequests were also received from Philip Wilson (TC 1950) and George Mitchell.

ALUMNI AND COMMUNITY ACTIVITIES
Members of the Warden’s Circle – which recognises those who have made a gift of $1,000 or more during the calendar year – were guests at a solo performance by Indigenous actress Tammy Anderson on 30 July, a Choir concert in October, and a Garden Party held on 15 November in the beautiful grounds of Duneira at Mount Macedon. In 2009, there were 189 members of the Warden’s Circle, their Patron being Mrs Louise Gourlay, OAM.

In October, 125 guests attended the Chapel Service and Dinner to commemorate our Founders and Benefactors.

Three Carol Services were held in 2009. The two at the College had packed congregations, and more than 700 people attended the service in St Paul’s Cathedral.

A major survey was developed during the year to find out the views and needs of the alumni. With over 1,500 responses received, both electronically and in printed documents, this information will be used to help refine the ways in which the College supports and interacts with its alumni.

Reunions were held for those alumni who entered 20, 30, 40 and 50 years ago, and all were splendid occasions for the many who attended. The Seniors’ Lunch, for those who entered more than 50 years ago, attracted more than 100 guests.

Almost 80 guests from every age group attended the ‘Drinks Under the Oak’ event hosted by the Union of the Fleur-de-Lys on 12 March. This was relocated to the Gourlay basement due to inclement weather.

An afternoon picnic in October for Foundation Studies alumni and staff was well attended.

Two events were held in New York and another in Los Angeles. Meetings and events were also held in Singapore, Kuala Lumpur and Auckland.

STAFFING
During the year the Advancement Office farewelled Dana Zarzycki (Associate Director of Advancement), Kirstie Robertson (Advancement Associate, Events and Communications) and Veronica Fahmy (Administrative Assistant). Nicole Crook was appointed as Advancement Associate, Events and Communications.

Dr Alan Watkinson
Director of Advancement
STAFF ACTIVITIES

Gayle Allan, Literature Lecturer (TCFS), received a research grant from La Trobe University to examine early modern medical manuscripts in the British Library and the Royal College of Physicians Library in Edinburgh. This work is part of her research on representations of jealousy in early modern drama.

Russell Beedles, Drama Lecturer (TCFS), has been writing a 213-page autobiographical memoir of his early years. Entitled A Tribe of Angels: Coming of Age in Melbourne, it will be printed in 2010.

Tim Bell, IT System Administrator, and Mark Dorsett, Manager, IT Operations, received Apple University Consortium scholarships to attend the 2009 Apple Worldwide Developers Conference in San Francisco in June.

Dr Deane Blackler, Associate Dean in the residential College, was appointed an Honorary Fellow in the School of Culture and Communication in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Melbourne. She was also invited to be a member of the panel of principals and curriculum experts for ‘Rewarding High Quality Teaching’, a project led by Professor John Hattie from the University of Auckland for the Association of Independent Schools, Victoria, researching matrices for assessing outstanding educators for performance-based pay outcomes and the impact of that process on professional learning.

Deane continued as a member of both text selection and examination setting panels for several VCE studies for the Victorian Curriculum and Assessment Authority. She is also a member of the executive teams that oversee the management of the moderation of the General Achievement Test (GAT) and the core study in the Victorian Certificate of Education (VCE), with over 76,000 candidates in the former, and 46,000 in the latter.

She contributed a chapter in a book of essays on the writer W G Sebald (on whom she has previously published as a single author): ‘Sebald’s Strange Cinematic Prose: stasis and kinesis’ in Gerhard Fischer (ed), W G Sebald. Schreiben ex patria / Expatriate Writing, [Amsterdam/New York, NY, Rodopi: 2009].

The Very Revd Dr Stuart Blackler, appointed George Mitchell Fellow in April, presented a paper entitled ‘Remembering Montgomery: A Lion amongst the Danes’ to the Anglican Historical Society, Diocese of Melbourne, in October.

Dr Claudio Bozzi, Literature Lecturer (TCFS), with two fellow researchers, was awarded an Anti-Doping Research Project (ADRP) grant by the Department of Health and Ageing (DHA), to investigate, review and revise current anti-doping detection, prevention and prosecutorial procedures and policies, as they relate to elite athletes, and state and national institutes of sport, with the aim of achieving enhanced results and effectiveness in the drafting and administration of such policies. This research will extend until November 2010, with a report to be published in 2011.

Jonathan Bradley, Musician-in-Residence and Senior Organ Scholar, gave an organ recital at St Paul’s Cathedral, Melbourne, in May, and another at Holy Trinity Cathedral, Auckland, NZ, in November. With soprano Siobhan Stagg (4th year Arts/Music), he performed the world premiere of the song cycle, Life Cycles, composed by his father, Gary Bradley, and broadcast on 3MBS-FM in July. As the accompanist of the Royal Melbourne Philharmonic and the Australian Children’s Choir, Jonathan also participated in many other concerts in Melbourne throughout the year, playing piano, organ and harpsichord.

Dr Peter Campbell, Registrar in the residential college, completed 10 years’ service as a Senior Choral Scholar with the Choir of Trinity College, although he sang several major services and recorded the Choir’s latest ABC Classics CD, Angel Songs, for which he also compiled the booklet notes. Four of his musical compositions – a setting of Banjo Paterson’s ‘Sunrise on the Coast’, two wedding anthems, ‘So oft Have I Invoked Thee’ (Shakespearel and ‘What is the Glory far Above?’ (de la Barca); and song-cycle An Avian Miscellany – were premiered during the year. Two of his other anthems were also performed in the annual Commemoration of Founders and Benefactors service in October, and during the Advent Festival held at Newman College in November.

An Honorary Research Fellow in the Faculty of Music at the University of Melbourne, Peter continued as editor of the music librarians’ journal Continuo and as a member of the editorial committee for Context: A Journal of Music Research. He also served on the Organising and Program Committees for the 21st National Conference of the Musicological Society of Australia and continues to serve on the National Committee, and the Treasurer of the Victorian Chapter. He is Treasurer of Ensemble Gombert Inc. and sings regularly with the new Consort of Melbourne, co-directed by past Dean of the College, Dr Peter Tregear. In December, he and another former Trinity chorister, Timothy Ryhoffs, appeared as soloists in Handel’s Messiah for the Bendigo Chamber Choir.

During the year he was appointed a Justice of the Peace for Victoria, and undertook a study tour of collegiate housing at university campuses in the US and Canada, visiting Stanford, Princeton, Holy Cross, McGill and the University of British Columbia, Vancouver.

She was Chair of Panels, Registration of Private Higher Education Providers and Accreditation of Courses for the Victorian Registration and Qualifications Authority, and is also a trained and registered AUQA University auditor.

Dr Steven Conte, Writer-in-Residence, was a participant in the Sydney, Melbourne, and Williamstown writers’ festivals, as well as the National Library of Australia’s Flight of the Mind conference. His novel The Zookeeper’s War was published in the UK and Ireland and was also selected for the State Library of Victoria’s 2008–09 Summer Reads program. He received a New Work grant of $25,000 from the Literature Board of the Australia Council.

System Administrators Geoff Crompton and Tim Bell co-wrote a paper on improving change management processes. Entitled ‘Change (under) Planning’, Geoff presented this to the SAGE-AU Conference, a forum for System Administrators from around Australia, in August. They also submitted alterations to improve the open source software ‘hostdb’.

Dr Sasha Cziganowski, Mathematics 2 Subject Leader (TCFS), attended the 2009 Conference of the Higher Education Research and Development Society of Australasia at Charles Darwin University in July.

Rose De la cruz, Joint Environment & Development Subject Leader (TCFS), was given three days’ time release by the College in February to work with the Red Cross Emergency Team as one of many trained volunteers manning the phones during Victoria’s disastrous bushfires.

Dr Anne Elvey, Associate Research Fellow (Theological School), published three journal articles: ‘Ashes and dust: on (not) speaking about God ecologically’ Eco-Theology, edited by Elaine Wainwright, Luiz Carlos Susin and Felix Wilfred; ‘Concilium’: International Review of Theology no. 3, pp 33–42 (2009); ‘Roland Boer, Rescuing the

She published two poetry chapbooks, one of which, ‘Claimed by country’ was shortlisted for the 2009 PressPress chapbook prize, while her poem ‘Between’ was included in The Best Australian Poems 2009, edited by Robert Adamson (Melbourne: Black Inc. 2009). Other poems were published in Journal of the Australian Poetry Centre: Island; Westerly; Cordite Poetry Review; Going Down Swinging; Mascara Literary Review; and Eureka Street, as well as in the magazine Eremos: Exploring Spirituality in Australia.

The Revd Dr Ross Fishburn, Director of Studies, STFE Coordinator, and Farnham Maynard Lecturer (Theological School), was awarded a DTheol, by the Melbourne College of Divinity, based on his thesis entitled ‘Retrieving the paschal ecclesiology of Michael Ramsey’. He also taught UFT classes throughout the year.

In addition to teaching classes in the UFT, Tim is a member of the UFT Council. He also fills numerous roles at the Melbourne College of Divinity, including as Deputy Chair of Field C (Christian History and Thought), Chair of the Academic Grievance Panel, member of the Heads of Colleges Committee, and member of Council. Tim is a member of the Australian College of Theology, and also of the Diocese of Melbourne’s Board of Ministry.

Dr Margaret Grosse, Resident Tutor in Landscape Architecture and Director of Studies – Environments, continued as Deputy of the Course Standing Committee for Environments at the University of Melbourne. In this capacity she addressed Orientation Day and Open Day Environments students, and was a speaker at the Provost’s July summit: Graduating the New Generation Degree Students: the Class of 2010. She was on a national team which won a four-year ARC Linkage Grant on ‘smart, green school design – future proofing schools’, and on a team which won a University of Melbourne Learning and Teaching Initiatives Grant for 2010 to develop capstone subjects in the Bachelor of Environments.

Margaret, who is Course Coordinator and Senior Lecturer in Landscape Architecture at the University, spoke on ‘The colour green and the diversity of colour’ at the 11th Congress of the International Colour Association in Sydney in September. She also published ‘Changing relationships in public open space and private open space in suburbs in south-western Australia’ in Landscape and Urban Planning, and has ‘Small decisions in suburban open spaces: ecological perspectives from a Hotspot of global biodiversity concerning knowledge flows between disciplinary territories’ in press to Landscape Research, as well as three papers under international review.

Christopher Heath, English for Academic Purposes Lecturer (TCFS), and his wife performed a comedy show ‘The Alexandra Technique’ at the Melbourne Fringe Festival in September/October.

Dr Brenda Holt, Chief of Staff, was awarded the 2009 Chancellor’s Prize (Social Sciences) for her PhD thesis, ‘Global Routes/Rural Roots: Identity, Rural Women, and Higher Education’. This work attracted strong media interest with articles published in The Age, The Herald Sun and The Voice, as well as an interview on ABC rural radio in October. Dr Holt was also awarded the 2009 Melbourne Graduate School of Education’s Publication Award for the most outstanding postgraduate publication in the year for her chapter entitled Researching Without Words in the book J Moss (ed) Educational Researchers Working—Visually, Digitally, and Spatially (Nottingham: Sense Publishers: 2008).

She was an invited speaker at the inaugural Forum of the National Centre for Student Equity in Higher Education where she presented a paper entitled ‘Identity Matters: The utility of “conferred identity” as symbolic power and social capital in the higher education equity and access debate’. This paper was selected for inclusion in an edited book to be published in 2010. Co-written with her PhD supervisor, Professor Lyn Yates, Dr Holt published “Under pressure I fall back to being a teacher…” ‘Confronting Contending Desires for Schooling and Teaching in a Middle School Reform Project’, The Australian Educational Researcher, vol 36, no 1.

Kim Hubery, Human Resources Officer, completed her Graduate Certificate in Human Resources at Swinburne University of Technology and is continuing these studies at Diploma level.

Dr Hsein Kew, Resident Tutor in Economics, was awarded a three-year Australian Research Council grant in Econometrics.
The Revd Dr Dorothy Lee, Frank Woods Distinguished Lecturer in Biblical Studies in the Theological School and residential College Associate Chaplain, gave a paper at the Societas Novi Testamenti Studiorum in the Johanneum Literature Section in Vienna, entitled 'Paschal and Sacrificial Symbolism in John and Hebrews'. At Newcastle Cathedral she preached on angels for the feast of St Michael and All Angels, and gave a paper, led a workshop, and was part of the final discussion panel for the St James, King Street’s Intensive, ‘Is Scripture Enough?’, at St Paul’s College, Sydney, in July. The next day, she preached three times at St James King Street, including to the Prime Minister at the 9 am service.

Dr Tamar Lewit, Director of Special Academic Projects (TCFS) was elected a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries, London, and was appointed an Honorary Fellow in the School of Historical Studies at the University of Melbourne. With colleagues from the Australian National University and the University of Melbourne, she was part of a team awarded an Australian Research Council Discovery Grant – one of fewer than 150 awarded in the Humanities and Creative Arts for 2010 – to research the Aegean region in Late Antiquity through a project entitled ‘The silent wilderness speaks: the long history of Gallipoli and the Dardanelles’.

The Revd Dr Andreas Loewe, College Chaplain since July, took part in a consultation led by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Rowan Williams, at Lambeth Palace in March, for young academic theologians in full-time ministry. In May, he attended and contributed to a residential program of the Windsor Leadership Trust at Windsor Castle, examining the current and future demands on leadership for individuals and organisations. He completed a five-year term as chair of an interfaith arts provider, and as a director of a Cambridge University-based educational trust fostering greater understanding between the three Abrahamic Faiths. After relocating to Melbourne, he delivered the valedictory address for the United Faculty of Theology in October, and was a guest preacher in parishes in the diocese and province. He is also completing a short series of articles on the impact of the Henrician Reformation on the English universities.

Frank Sanders, English for Academic Purposes Lecturer (TCFS), presented a paper on ‘The Relevance of Elements of EAP for Success at University’ to the VicTESOL ESL Conference held at Albert Park, in September.

Dr Janusz Sysak, History of Ideas Associate Subject Leader (TCFS) was invited to give a paper to an international conference on the theme, ‘Love in the Religions of the World’ held at the University of Hong Kong in October. His paper was entitled, ‘Loving God: Aspects of love in Yogic philosophy’. In August and September, he also prepared and delivered a new short seminar series on ‘Eastern Thought’ for Newman and St Mary’s Colleges.

Vincent Ramos, Associate Director, Community Relations (Advancement), attended the Association of Development and Alumni Professionals in Education (ADAPE) Australasia Pty Ltd, having been the President of ADAPE Australasia Inc. since 2006. He spoke at a number of ADAPE Conferences, including: NSW (Stewardship), New Zealand (Wills and Bequests), WA (Building a Bequest Program; Ensuring a Strong ROI in Advancement) and wrote the president’s page article in the March edition of the Association’s magazine, Face to Face.

He presented on ‘Lessons to learn in bequest societies’ at the School for Social Impact in November, and attended and presented on ‘Developing a healthy bequest program in your institution’ at the inaugural CASE Summer Institute at Mt Eliza in October.

Meg Warner, Honorary Research Fellow in the Theological School, was awarded the inaugural Morna Sturrock Doctoral Fellowship in 2009. She gave a paper entitled, ‘Keeping the Way of YHWH: Righteousness and Justice in Gen 18–19:29’ at two conferences in July – the 2009 International Meeting of the Society for Biblical Literature in Rome, and ‘Genesis and Christian Theology’, held at the University of St Andrew’s, Scotland – and received a research student grant of $2,500 from the MCD to support her attendance at these events.

She has also been invited to present a paper called ‘Promises, Anomalies and Foreign Wives in Genesis 26’, at the International Meeting of the Society for Biblical Literature in Tartu, Estonia, in July 2010, and has again been awarded a $2,500 grant from the MCD to attend. A further invitation to attend a ‘Lead Kindly Light’ course at the Anglican Centre in Rome in February 2010, will receive funding from the Anglican Centre.

Dr Cathy Symington, Biology Lecturer and Extended Programs Coordinator (TCFS), received First Class Honours in each of the four subjects she has studied so far towards her Masters of Education (Educational Management) at the University of Melbourne. As a consequence, she was recommended for a consulting role at a private secondary school in the Eastern suburbs.

Dr Alan Watkinson, Director of Advancement and Executive Director of the Trinity College Foundation, became the Inaugural Chairman of the Association of Development and Alumni Professionals in Education (ADAPE) Australasia Pty Ltd, having been the President of ADAPE Australasia Inc. since 2006. He spoke at a number of ADAPE Conferences, including: NSW (Stewardship), New Zealand (Wills and Bequests), WA (Building a Bequest Program; Ensuring a Strong ROI in Advancement) and wrote the president’s page article in the March edition of the Association’s magazine, Face to Face.

He presented on ‘Lessons to learn in bequest societies’ at the School for Social Impact in November, and attended and presented on ‘Developing a healthy bequest program in your institution’ at the inaugural CASE Summer Institute at Mt Eliza in October.
